

Susan

The school Demon

Eventually, I arrived at the misty harbor, striding slowly I realized that there was a turtle trapped in a fishing net by a rusty old boat. Instantly, I untangle the net and in gower of my help the turtle gave me the power of the turtle. I thanked him for the gift and carried on my restless journey.

Some time later, I came across a budgie but it was not needing my help, the beetle in its mouth was! Automatically, I leaped towards it, the beetle flew out of its mouth and remarkably landed in the palm of my hand. "Thank you, thank you!" the beetle yelled to me and as payment for my wonderful help he gave me the power to become a beetle.

Later on I sat beside an old oak tree resting for the journey when all of a sudden I hear a "Tweep", there was only one thing it could of been, A Dove! Considerly, I started to slowly climb the oak tree (without looking down!) There it was a poor dove stuck between two branches, I snapped the branches to set her free and in return she gave me the power of transforming into a dove.

As I arrived home I noticed that the gate was left open and the door too! (It must of been the school Demon.) I wondered in, I couldn't see any of my toys or comics, only my school books remained!

Hesitantly, I rose into a magnificent dove and glided off.

to the school demon's home, there was no obstacles in my way surprisingly. Soon after my claws scraped across the rubble ground as I arrived at the home of the school demon. (It was the school)

After that I reluctantly transformed into a tiny beetle and squeezed into the tiny gap between the stone bolder and the cave wall. It was extremely dark inside the cave. Eventually, I managed to squeeze through.

last I turned into a beautiful turtle and strongly wacked it with my large plippers. When the demon was passed out on the hard floor I noticed where my toys and comic and so on were.

I only just managed to carry the load of toys back home, but when I did arrive I had the most fun ever with my new friends, the dove, the turtle and the beetle and from that day on we have been best friends, unlike the School Demon.