

A pair of silver forceps with a central arrow-shaped handle. The forceps have two curved ends with loops. The central handle is a thick, cylindrical rod with a pointed arrowhead on the right side and a textured, fan-like base on the left side. The text "THE SILVER" and "ARROW" is overlaid on the central handle.

THE SILVER

ARROW

By Cameron

Chapter 1

One day in the Kingdom of Selog there lived a strong, trust worthy, brave Knight and his King and Queen who lived in their Castle.

The castle was a beautiful white colour. It sparkled in the sunlight, like a polished crystal. The castle sat upon a hill, the grass on it was green a bit like crocodile scales. Surrounding the castle and hill was a fifteen foot tall black gate which wouldn't let anyone in or out unless they had a key. The bars on the gate were as thick as a tree trunk.

One day at midnight, while the King and Queen were a sleep, a Werewolf kidnapped the Queen!

The next day, the King called in the knight.

“You're royal King, what am I to your needs?” the knight asked, while bowing.

“My young knight, you are by far the greatest fighter in the Kingdom” the king said.

“Yes sir,” the knight replied in a slow and respectful voice.

“The Queen was kidnapped last night and she must be rescued or else,” the King paused.

“Or else what?” the knight asked.

“You see, it was the Werewolf from the Forbidden Woods that kidnapped her, and he will eat her if she doesn't get saved in time.” “And you must stop him”

“I will” he replied in a stern voice.

Chapter 2

The knight set off on his quest to save the Queen bringing along his loyal Paige boy.

He left the castle and ran down the path on the hill towards the gate. He pulled out his key, which the King had given him, and unlocked the door of the gate. Once he had opened the gates, he dashed towards the Forbidden Woods. On the way he realised that he could take a short cut. Instead of taking the paths and cutting across the fields, the knight could slip down into the sewers and race across the Kingdoms graveyard.

So he jogged on, looking for a tunnel which would lead him downward into the sewer. After some time he did notice a small path which led towards an arch with a very dark entrance. Finally he had found a way down to the sewers.

He crept down into the sewers. It was pitch black and the Knight could feel the sewage water tickling around his ankles. The knight was remarkably intelligent so he picked up a rock and a little stick from underneath the gooey water. He scraped the rock across the wall, it squealed like a piece of chalk getting scratched on a blackboard. It set alight. Then, the Knight gently moved the rock towards the stick and set fire to the top of the stick.

The light enabled him to see in front of him. In amongst the light beaming on the wall, he could see two shadows. Then the Knight realized that it was impossible for him to have two shadows! Someone, something was behind him. He turned round, nervously. Standing still behind him, was a creature. It had gigantic ears with a massively long skin dry pink tail. Its eyes were as red as fresh tomatoes, it had very small but immensely sharp teeth. Its feet were webbed and also pink, so were his hands. They had white nails growing from his witch like fingers; they were as sharp as dinosaur's teeth. It was a skavern or a rat man to you and me.

The knight turns and runs, dropping his stick, he turns one way then another and another going as quick as he can. He can hear the splashing which the rat man was making in the sewage water, behind him but not to close. As he runs he is suddenly pulled into a dark corner. He takes out his sword ready to strike but just in time he realizes it was his Paige boy. The page boy raises his finger to his lips, telling the knight to be quiet. They hold there breaths, as the rat man races by.

“Quick!” said the Paige boy, pointing upward at the top of a ladder. “Follow me”

So the knight follows the page boy up the rusty dusty ladder. They escape out of the sewer.

Chapter 3

Getting out of the sewer, the Paige boy and knight ended up in the graveyard. Gravestones lay broken and cracked. No one had ever dared to enter the graveyard before.

Underneath their feet they could feel and hear something struggling. Then more and more of these strange things began to grow from within the ground! A hand appeared it was bone and bone only, but it held a sword. Then its other hand appeared. More and more dead people's sets of hands appeared!

Bursting out from the ground were skeletons. The knight's jaw dropped in amazement. "What are they" the Paige boy asked "Hollow men" the knight replied. "Go and hide" he said, "if one comes to you shout for me and run away from it, I'll then come and kill it.

The knight pulled out his sword, meanwhile the page boy did exactly what the knight told him to do. A Hollow man came sprinting at him he swung his sword and sliced its head off. Another came, then the knight cut straight down the middle of him. Loads came and surrounded him, but two of the other Hollow men spotted the page boy. They went racing after him; the boy sprinted away as fast as he could. Suddenly he came to a dead end.

"HELP!" he screamed But it was no use the knight was struggling to fight off all the other Hollow men. The two Hollow men limped towards him like a zombie. The Paige boy didn't know what to do. So he randomly picked up and objected off the floor and chucked it at the Hollow mans head. Luckily he had picked up a stone!

It bounced off one Hollow mans skull and onto the others skull. Both skulls cracked into o million pieces and the rest of the Hollow men fell to the floor. By this time the knight had finished off the other Hollow men.

Chapter 4

Quickly, they climbed over the fence and ran. Both the Paige boy and the Knight could see the Forbidden Woods. Slowly they entered not knowing what the werewolf looked like or how strong he was.

In front of them they could see a little old cottage the Knight walked towards it. The Knight knocked on the solid oak door.

“Yes” said a tiny old lady in a crooked voice.

“We were wondering if you had seen a werewolf around here.” The Paige boy asked

“Yes I have, he’s the only living thing in these Woods other than me.” She replied. “If you’re here to save your Queen and kill that beast once and for all you’ll need this.

The old lady handed them a silver bow and arrow.

The Knight and the Paige boy set off through the dark and spooky trees. It was absolutely silent.

Suddenly...there was a footstep...some one...something, was nearby. The Knight and Paige Boy hid behind an astonishingly spiky thorn bush. The Knight could just see what was there. It had dark red eyes, hair covered its body, and its nails were like daggers. It had extra hairs running down the back of its neck.

“What is it?” The Paige Boy asked

“The Werewolf” The Knight replied

“Where’s the Queen” asked the Paige Boy

“The Werewolves got her in his grasp” He replied

The werewolf lifted his hand and went to strike the Queen. Suddenly the Paige Boy yelled “Yeah you get off her” The werewolf turned around and ran as fast as he could to catch the little Paige Boy. Then the Knight pulled out his bow and arrow which the old lady gave him earlier and shot the silver arrow at the werewolf. It spun round and round like a corkscrew. Then it struck the werewolf on the forehead and the werewolf fell down in a thud.

Meanwhile the Paige Boy rescued the Queen. Then they took the long and safe route back to the castle.

Chapter 5

Once they got back the king had set out a remarkable feast. Each person had six different plates and one bowl; one for there vegetables and potato another for bread and pasta, then they had one for there main course a stew, another for there meats, one for there desert and a bowl for soup.

There were loads to choose from. They had all the vegetables you could think of. They had a beef stew or a vegetable stew. There were loads.

The Knight had some garlic bread and brown bread with some spaghetti pasta. Also he had carrot, broccoli, onion and lettuce. Then he had the beef stew. And a tomato soup, with that he had four pints of beer. Finally, he had ice cream, chocolate fudge cake, some apple and banana and a cream pie.

As all this was happening the Silver bow and arrow that killed the werewolf is glued to the Queens wall above her bed.

Chapter 6

The next day the Queen had the Kingdoms flag changed. Instead of three stripes up and down the way one yellow one green and one blue. It is now three stripes going diagonally the bottom and top once silver, the middle one black and a picture of the silver bow and arrow in the centre.

While this went on the Knight had travelled to Windsor Castle near London to be receive a medal for his braveness.

And the Paige Boy was granted by the Queen the greatest honour she could give him. He become a loyal Knight of the kingdom, Sir Oliver Repton, the first person in his family to ever become a knight.

The End